Scatter plot showing the number of publications per year for the top 10 authors. The x-axis represents the year (1990-2010) and the y-axis represents the number of publications (0-10). A vertical line at year 950 is labeled '950'.

The diagram shows four probability distributions for the number of points in the intersection of two sets, A and B. The horizontal axis is labeled with the number of points (0, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10). The vertical axis represents probability (0 to 1). The curves are labeled A, B, C, and D. Curve A is the highest, followed by B, C, and D. All curves are unimodal and centered around 5 points in the intersection.
